FLOOD CREST ENCOUNTERS SURGING TIDE

Water Boils Toward Top Of Earthworks Protecting Towns, Villages and Fertile Farms

DAMAGES IN MILLIONS

Portland, Ore., June 2—(P)—The crisis in the mighty Columbia's most disastrous flood came today as the surging tide of the 100 miles from Portland to the Pacific Ocean. The river's crest collided with a high tide surging in from the sea.

Water boiled toward the top of earthworks protecting towns, villages and fertile farms. In spots the difference between inundation and destruction was only a matter of a few inches.

The crush of water seaward meant the worst was over upriver where the toll is 20 known dead, an unknown number unaccounted for in the Vanport disaster, 50,000 homeless and damage in millions of dollars.

The flood crest has passed the major cities—Portland, Oregon's metropolis; and Vancouver and Longview on the Washington side of the state-separating river. These communities, and many others are trying now to get back to normal.

It will be a long haul. An estimated 10,000 homes were swept away by the rampaging river. The entire city of Vanport was destroyed. Dikes were washed out, communications and transportation crippled. Hundreds of square miles lay under a murky water that will remain for days and weeks.

The fight now is against disease, to search for the dead, to bring families back together again, to feed and clothe and house those who lost everything. Impetus to the tremendous task came from President Truman.

Ordered federal agencies into full speed rehabilitation of the stricken region, the president ordered local and national, struggled to get their own aid programs going.

The Red Cross said it is caring for 7,000 families registered in the Portland area alone. It praised Portland's response in donating 20 tons of clothing and 200 tons of food. And more still is coming in.

The Salvation Army announced 30 canteens in operation in diked areas. More than 100,000 sandwiches have been distributed along with quantities of blankets, shoes and other necessities, it said.

The navy is ready to break out surplus vessels from its moth-ball fleet at Astoria, Ore., for use in the emergency housing.

The president has also asked the army and interior departments to reappraise their long range planning for Columbia River development in view of the disaster.

The river's two great hydro-electric dams—at Bonneville and Grand Coulee—have been forced by high water to cut down their great generators.

The toll in Vanport is still a mystery.

Arch of the debris has been hampered by washout of two adjoining barriers that sent downed barges and houses swirling away again. Water is still 15 feet deep in the murky mile square sink filled with splintered and floating buildings that was a city of 18,700 until Sunday afternoon.

FATALLY BURNED IN KEROSENE EXPLOSION

Hoooverville, June 2—(P)—Robert Cable, 72, retired farmer, was fatally burned yesterday in the explosion of a can of kerosene with which he was building up an outdoor fire at his farm home.

Cable was about 25 feet from the fire when the flash sprayed the kerosene on his clothing. Members of his family beat out the blaze. Cable lived seven hours, dying last night in Windbar Hospital.

State Liquor Board Differs Over Policy On Suspensions

Harrisburg, June 2—(P)—The State Liquor Control Board strove today to reconcile internal differences over a proposal demanding a tougher policy on license suspensions.

The board met and discussed the issue yesterday but no action was taken.

Board member Charles C. McGovern proposed last week in a formal resolution that the board discontinue its present policy of accepting money compromises from suspended licensees. Under the law, the board may accept $10 for each day of the suspension period in lieu of closing.

McGovern urged that licenses still be required to pay the full money penalties but that none be allowed to remain open for more than half of the suspension.

Board Chairman Frederick T. Calder, on the other hand, asserted

Biggest Peacetime Military Budget In Nation's History Reaches Floor of the House

Washington, June 2—(P)—The biggest peacetime military budget in the nation's history hit the house floor today—$10,196,672,350 for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The appropriations committee at the same time released testimony warning of the "alarming menace" of Soviet military might and disclosing that the United States fleet now in the Mediterranean is there for two reasons:

First, to serve as a warning to Soviet Union not to try to overrun any of the free countries of Europe.

Second, to be ready to remove American forces if worst came to worst.

Two separate appropriation bills—given top priority for immediate action—provide $6,509,733,250 for the Army and Air Forces and $3,686,939,250 for the Navy for the year starting July 1.

Their combined total is $505,000,000 greater than the services are spending this year and more than three times as much as the regular 1941 budgets for the Armed Forces.

The committee recommended a cut of 6.1 per cent, or $241,003,450, for the Navy, and 9 per cent, or $337,903,000, for the Army and Air Forces, from amounts President Truman had asked.

But both sums recommended are in addition to approximately $3,000,000,000 Congress recently gave the services to buy aircraft.

The new funds are intended to build up Army and Air Force personnel to a top strength of 1,324,500 and the Navy and Marine Corps to 552,000.

This compares with reported Soviet military strength of 4,000,000 men, which Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of Army Staff, said presents "an alarming menace to the security of the United States."

Testimony taken during the hearings shows that the Army plans to use 272,000 of its men overseas and 518,000 in the country.

The 1,234,500 manpower goal set for the Army and Air Force is 302,500 more than the two services expect to have in uniform at the end of this month—a factor that underscored the priority Republican leaders have given the draft bills pending in both House and Senate.

Pressed by high military officials to lose no time in building up the nation's fighting forces, the House Appropriations committee sent the bill to the floor for immediate action and then started work at once on the Navy's 1949 budget.

Pa. Delegation Planning To Be On Winning Bandwagon

Harrisburg, June 2—(P)—The big Pennsylvania delegation hopes to start the bandwagon rolling for the winning candidate for president at the Republican national convention.

That was the word today from state GOP headquarters, a little more than two weeks before the party's nominating convention opens at Philadelphia, June 21.

"It will be a matter of finding out who the people across the country want and then getting in there and putting him over," said a spokesman who declined quotation by name.

Both Governor James H. Duff, who will head the commonwealth's big bloc of 73 delegates, and State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, have insisted for months that the delegation should go to the Philadelphia convention without any pledges to give its members an open mind in making the choice of candidates.

For strategic purposes, the delegation is pledged to U. S. Senator Edward Martin as a favorite son candidate on the first ballot, or until convention sentiment starts to crystallize, but the plan is to get behind the winning candidate as soon as that starts developing.

and to have a big part in that development.

In event of a deadlock between Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, and U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, it was pointed out, Pennsylvania will be in a good position to break the impasse with an undivided delegation.

New York's delegation is pledged to Dewey and most of Ohio's bloc is committed to Taft.

Duff has been reported as leaning toward U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, as a compromise candidate in event of a deadlock but he has steadfastly refused to say who he favors. The same applies to Taylor.

The strength of all the potential candidates for President in the Pennsylvania delegation remains a question mark as convention time nears.

COAL STRIKE COURT ORDER BEING ARGUED

Federal Judge Goldsborough Tosses Out Significant Remark During Hearing Today

LEWIS NOT IN COURT

Washington, June 2—(P)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough told John L. Lewis' attorney today it will be a "national tragedy" if there is a coal strike next month. Goldsborough tossed out this remark as Wells K. Hopkins, attorney for Lewis, and government attorneys argued over the government's request for a court order requiring Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers Association on a new soft coal mining contract.

In what seemed an indication of sympathy with the government's request, the balding judge rocked in his chair in U. S. district court and remarked conversationally:

"Now I'm aware that you can carry a horse to water but you can't make him drink."

"But, if people sit down around a table and fuss in good faith, something usually comes out of it."

Lewis contends the Southern Coal Producers Association (SCPA) is a "propaganda" organization, formed to fight his United Mine Workers. He gives that as one reason for refusing to talk contract with it.

The government is asking an order requiring him to bargain with it on grounds that such bargaining is required by the Taft-Hartley Law. The government fears a mine work stoppage when the present contract runs out June 30 if a new working agreement is not reached before then.

Lewis himself was not in the courtroom as the case was argued.

Goldsborough, in another tossed-in remark during the arguments, said he believed he had authority to issue such an order. That meant he was rejecting informally the Hartley law's provision for such court action.

Oral arguments began after the office of General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the National Labor Relations Board filed an answer to the United Mine Workers' motion to dismiss the case.

Denham was not in the courtroom. The United Mine Workers are committing an unfair labor practice by refusing to sit down with the association.

The SCPA was authorized by Southern Operators—who produce one-third of the nation's soft coal—to speak for them in meetings with Lewis.

But the UMW chief said in a brief filed with Goldsborough yesterday that the association's "hostile, arbitrary, recalcitrant, negative and adamant attitude" in previous contract negotiations had forced government seizure of the coal mines in 1933, 1943 and 1946.

It was Lewis' refusal to meet with President Joseph R. Moody of the Southern Association that brought a quick end to contract negotiations for the bituminous coal industry May 19.

Moody appealed to Denham, who in turn appealed to Goldsborough.

The executions went off without a hitch. The last man dropped to his doom just 62 minutes after the first stepped on the trap.

Four of those hanged were doctors. The court—headed by Judge Walter Beale of the Washington State Supreme court—convicted them said they had perverted their science into a murderous practice on helpless living persons. The other three executed men were SS officers convicted of directing the Nazi "research program."

The experiments described in court records were grisly. Experiments in which human guinea pigs were crushed and strangled. There also were malaria, mustard gas and sterilization tests which killed many—most of them dying in agony.

MAY WEATHER IS STRICTLY IN BOOKS
Pittsburgh, June 4—(P)—Weather in the Pittsburgh area for the month of May was strictly in the books.

Temperature, rainfall and wind statistics for last month were so near theoretical normal statistics that observers were amazed.

The normal maximum temperature for May is 78.2. Last month it was 70.5; the normal minimum is 50. Last month it was 49. Last month's rainfall of 3.17 inches was strictly under the normal 3.21 and the wind velocity of 10.6 topped the normal 10 miles per hour.

The only large variation was in sunshine, with May showing 50 per cent compared with a normal 56 per cent for the month.

DROWNS WHEN TRUCK CAREENS INTO RIVER
Pittsburgh, June 2—(P)—John R. Vennillo, 40, a driver for the Pittsburgh Press, drowned when his loaded truck plunged into the Allegheny river from Duquesne Way yesterday.

Vennillo was thrown from the truck but sank into the water before aid could reach him. Passersby said the truck suddenly swerved off Duquesne Way near Sixth street, slithered through an opening in the guardrail, bounded across the wharf and into the water.

Flood Wipes Out Oregon Town

Debris and two-story, six-unit apartments float toward a 500-foot washout, right, in a highway leading into Vanport City, a suburb of Portland, Ore. No one knew how many persons perished in the raging Columbia River flood which broke through dikes and inundated Vanport City, the nation's largest housing project, under 15 feet of water. The town's 19,000 residents were all homeless.

Truman Urges Passage Of Housing, Reciprocal Trade And Educational Measures

Washington, June 2—(A)—President Truman made a new plea to Democratic congressional leaders today for passage of housing, reciprocal trade and educational legislation.

Mr. Truman's appeal was made verbally at a White House conference as the senate stretched out its working hours in a bid to dispose of one of three bills labeled "must" by GOP leaders aiming at a June 19 adjournment.

House Minority Leader Rayburn told reporters that the president also discussed some of the highlights of the five major speeches he is to make on a cross-country tour starting Thursday night.

Rayburn was accompanied to the White House by Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic National Chairman; Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic Senate whip and Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, party whip in the House.

Rayburn was asked by reporters what the prospects were for House passage of the long-range housing bill which has cleared the Senate.

"It looks like they (the Republican leaders) are more interested in adjourning than they are in passing legislation," he said.

Legislation extending the reciprocal trade program has been passed by the House and hearings are under way in a Senate Committee.

The federal aid to education bill has passed the Senate and is pending in the House.

Rayburn said the three measures are considered particularly urgent by Mr. Truman, although other phases of the legislative picture were gone over in his conference, lasting nearly an hour.

Acting Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska said he will hold the chamber in session "quite late" (Turn to Page Eight)

Simple Rites Planned For Bear Lake Boy Killed In War

Mr. and Mrs. Alec W. Perkins, Bear Lake, have been notified that the body of their son, Leo Duane Perkins, electrician's mate first class, USN, who was killed in action in 1944, will arrive Thursday and will be removed to the Spitzer Funeral Home at Clymer, N. Y.

There to pay their respects. A prayer service will be held from the home at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, followed by committal in the Bear Lake cemetery, with Rev. A. L. Pang officiating.

Young Perkins was killed in action on April 11, 1944, while serving aboard the USS Holden in the Mediterranean area. He was originally reported missing in action, as of that date, when government sources revealed, his ship had been torpedoed.

He was born in Bear Lake on February 23, 1922, and was graduated from Panama High School with the Class of 1939. He joined the United Brethren church in his youth and had been an active member.

He enlisted for naval service at Jamestown on January 13, 1941, and had his boot training at Newport, R. I., later attending electrician's school in San Diego, Calif.

His first service was aboard the minesweeper Oglea, which was sunk at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, and was then transferred to the USS Honolulu, which saw continuous service in the Pacific.

Participating in ten major battles, the last of which was at Kula Gulf, the ship was damaged and returned to the States for repairs.

Young Perkins was transferred to the sub-chaser school in Florida and then to gyro school in New Orleans, La., from where he was assigned to a destroyer escort for convoy duty in the Atlantic. It was on the first trip out that the Holden was torpedoed.

Pope Calls For "Just And Necessary Social Reforms"

Rome, June 2—(P)—Pope Pius XII called today for "just and necessary social reforms" to solve problems "growing out of the ruin and revolution of the world and its aftermath."

Not otherwise, he said, could "wayward and embittered hearts" be won back to the "true concepts and sound ideas about the world and God."

He invoked "earnestness, loyalty, energy and fairness" for "all men of right principles" for the task, citing especially the "urgent need to provide the poorer classes with housing, bread and work."

To Catholics he gave the watchword, "watchfulness"—lest, he said, "whose identity he did not specify, 'retake the ground so laboriously conquered.'"

"CEASE FIRE" TIME STILL TO BE DECIDED

Scattered Combat Reported in Jerusalem and Elsewhere in Palestine

DEBATE IN PROSPECT

BULLETIN
Amman, Trans-Jordan, June 2—(U)—The Arab Legion said today Arab artillery had scattered an Israeli attacking force in Ramat and Givat Shaul and killed 100 Jews.

By The Associated Press
Arab nations accepted with "explanations" today the United Nations' proposal for a four-week armistice in Palestine. The reply made plain the Arab belief there is no chance of lasting peace while the Jewish state of Israel exists.

Israel previously had accepted with "assumptions." One of these was that unlimited immigration, including men of fighting age, should continue during the armistice. The Arabs specified that continued Jewish immigration would constitute a grave threat to the Arab countries.

Scattered combat was reported in Jerusalem and elsewhere in Palestine pending a cease fire time, which the U. N. had not yet set. The Arab reply did not make clear whether the Arab acceptance of the armistice is conditional on the United Nations' agreeing to their "assumptions." The Arabs left the time of the cease fire to be decided. The Jews had set 6 p. m. EST yesterday, conditional upon a similar Arab offer.

The "explanation" specified that any solution partitioning Palestine into Jewish and Arab states has no chance of success. That is the very point over which both sides have been skirmishing since late in November and warring in the open since May 15, when the British mandate ended. The Arabs also stressed Jewish immigration as a peril and asked to be allowed to cooperate with the U. N. to supervise compliance with the cease fire.

Prolonged debate, during which fighting will continue, appeared to be in prospect.

The Jews said Egyptian troops attacked Negba south of Tel Aviv, and bombed Huda, in the same general area. Marksmen of the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion killed 20 Jews attacking the Zion, Jaffa, and New Galilee of old Jerusalem after midnight in an effort to win back a foothold.

Artillery, mortar and automatic weapons exploded through Jerusalem while both sides awaited a cease fire order to become effective.

The Jews said they ordered their forces to cease fire at 3 a. m. Palestine time (6 p. m. Tuesday, Eastern Standard Time, but would resume fire if the Arabs kept shooting. The hour was that which the U. N. had set as the deadline for replies to its proposal for a four-day truce.

An Israel spokesman said the Jewish acceptance of the truce was unconditional. The Jews, however, couched their reply with five "assumptions," one being that free immigration to Palestine should continue, regardless of whether the immigrants were men of fighting age. Egyptian Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nourashy said he did not think this acceptable.

The Jews also "assumed" food convoys and civilian traffic would go through the Arab road blocks to the 90,000 besieged Jews in new Jerusalem. They insisted that the armed embargo accompanying the armistice apply to British arms stored in the Middle East.

The "assumptions" there would be no blockade of Israel and that the Arabs and Jews should maintain positions held at the time of the cease fire.

Egyptian troops were but fourteen miles south of Tel Aviv. They were reported shelling Rehovot, 12 miles from the Israeli center.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, a part of the Israeli army, asserted Jews penetrated Latrun and blew up a big Trappist monastery of silent prayer.

Toll In Navy Boat Tragedy Placed at 28

Norfolk, Va., June 2—(P)—The Navy has announced that 28 sailors and marines were believed lost in Hampton Roads, where a swamped liberty launch dumped about 90 men into the choppy water.

GROVE CITY BOY IN NEWS

Norfolk, Va., June 2—(P)—Evangelist Demoftho boatswain's mate, second class, of Grove City, Pa., was in charge of one of the boats that rescued the men tossed into the water when a launch capsized. Demoftho said yesterday his craft picked up about 30 men from the water. He said the men were scattered over a wide area, having been carried some distance by strong tides.

EGYPTIAN TROOPS WERE BUT FOURTEEN MILES SOUTH OF TEL AVIV. They were reported shelling Rehovot, 12 miles from the Israeli center.

Fighter planes of the tiny Italian Air Force roared above the Vatican as the Pope spoke. They were engaged in aerial maneuvers to mark President Luigi Einaudi's assumption of command of the armed forces.

The speech, which was in Italian and lasted 25 minutes was the Pontiff's first major address since a Communist-led challenge was turned back in Italy's election April 18 and 19.

It was in reply to greetings from 17 cardinals of the Holy College on his Saint's Day. The Pope's name is Eugenio Pacelli. His saint is St. Eugene.

The address came, coincidentally, on the second birthday of the Italian republic, celebrated nationally.

After yesterday's meeting Gelder announced that "we have been talking it (McGovern's proposal) over but it has not been voted down. It can always come up at some future time." Gelder made the statement at a news conference attended by all three members of the board.

During the conference, Gelder and McGovern also disagreed over the question of whether the liquor board's present $37,000,000 inventory is too large.

Federal Judge Goldsborough Tosses Out Significant Remark During Hearing Today

LEWIS NOT IN COURT

Washington, June 2—(P)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough told J. Lee Lewis' attorney today it will be a "national tragedy" if there is a coal strike next month.

Goldsborough tossed out this remark as Wells K. Hopkins, attorney for Lewis, and government attorneys argued over the government's request for a court order requiring Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers Association on a new soft coal mining contract.

In what seemed an indication of sympathy with the government's request, the balding judge rocked in his chair in U. S. district court and remarked conversationally: "Now I'm aware that you can carry a horse to water but you can't make him drink."

"But, if people sit down around a table and fuss in good faith, something usually comes out of it," Lewis contends the Southern Coal Producers Association (SCPA) is a "propaganda" organization, formed to fight his United Mine Workers. He gives that as one reason for refusing to talk contract with it.

The government is asking an order requiring him to bargain with it on grounds that such bargaining is required by the Taft-Hartley Law. The government fears a mine work stoppage when the present contract runs out June 30 if a new working agreement is not reached before then.

Lewis himself was not in the court room as the case was argued.

Goldsborough, in another tossed-in remark during the arguments, said he believed he had authority to issue such an order. That meant he was rejecting informally the Hartley law's provision for such union's argument that the Taft-Hartley law's provision for such order is unconstitutional.

Oral arguments began after the office of General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the National Labor Relations Board filed an answer to the United Mine Workers' motion to dismiss the case.

Lewis was not in the court room. Denham complains that Lewis and the United Mine Workers are committing an unfair labor practice by refusing to sit down with the association.

The SCPA was authorized by Southern Operators—who produce one-third of the nation's soft coal—to speak for them in meetings with Lewis.

But the UMW chief said in a brief filed with Goldsborough yesterday that the association's "hostile, arbitrary, recalcitrant, negative and adamant attitude" in previous contract negotiations had forced government seizure of the coal mines in 1943, 1945 and 1946.

It was Lewis' refusal to meet with President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Association that brought a quick end to contract negotiations for the bituminous coal industry May 19.

Moody appealed to Denham, who in turn appealed to Goldsborough.

Young Girl Tells Of Slaying Friend

Pittsburgh, June 2—(P)—Police Lt. Joseph Henigan said a tearful young brunette walked into a police station today with a story of shooting to death near Middlesboro, Ky., a carnival roustabout who was her childhood sweetheart.

Henigan said the woman identified herself as Ethel Wooding, 21, of Windthrop, Mass. He said she named the roustabout as Gilbert A. Taylor, 24, also of Windthrop. The date of the alleged shooting was given as May 25.

The lieutenant quoted Miss Wooding as follows: "We had been arguing because I wanted to go home and he wouldn't let me. I got mad and took his gun and shot him three times, once in the head and twice in the heart."

"I stood there for a little while to see if he would move but he didn't. I threw down the gun and left."

The attractive young woman wore blue jeans, a sweater, sandals and a green raincoat. Police began an immediate check of her story.

Flood Wipes Out Oregon Town

Debris and two-story, six-unit apartments float toward a 500-foot washout, right, in a highway leading into Vanport City, a suburb of Portland, Ore. No one knew how many persons perished in the raging Columbia River flood which broke through dikes and inundated Vanport City, the nation's largest housing project, under 15 feet of water. The town's 19,000 residents were all homeless.

Truman Urges Passage Of Housing, Reciprocal Trade And Educational Measures

Washington, June 2—(P)—President Truman made a new plea to Democratic congressional leaders today for passage of housing, reciprocal trade and educational legislation.

Mr. Truman's appeal was made verbally at a White House conference as the senate stretched out its working hours in a bid to dispose of one of three bills labeled "must" by GOP leaders aiming at a June 19 adjournment.

House Minority Leader Rayburn told reporters that the president also discussed some of the highlights of the five major speeches he is to make on a cross-country tour starting Thursday night.

Rayburn was accompanied to the White House by Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic National Chairman; Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic Senate whip and Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, party whip in the House.

Rayburn was asked by reporters what the prospects were for House passage of the long-range housing bill which has cleared the Senate.

"It looks like they (the Republican leaders) are more interested in adjourning than they are in passing legislation," he said.

Legislation extending the reciprocal trade program has been passed by the House and hearings are under way in a Senate Committee.

The federal aid to education bill has passed the Senate and is pending in the House.

Rayburn said the three measures are considered particularly urgent by Mr. Truman, although other phases of the legislative picture were gone over in the conference, lasting nearly an hour.

Acting Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska said he will hold the chamber in session "quite late" (Turn to Page Eight)

Simple Rites Planned For Bear Lake Boy Killed In War

Mr. and Mrs. Alec W. Perkins, Bear Lake, have been notified that the body of their son, Leo Duane Perkins, electrician's mate, first class, USN, who was killed in action in 1944, will arrive Thursday and will be removed to the Spitzer Funeral Home at Clymer, N. Y.

The casket will be brought home Friday and friends may call there to pay their respects. A prayer service will be held from the home at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, followed by committal in the Bear Lake cemetery, with Rev. A. L. Pang officiating.

Young Perkins was killed in action on April 11, 1944, while serving aboard the USS Holden in the Mediterranean area. He was originally reported missing in action, as of that date, when government sources revealed, his ship had been torpedoed.

He was born in Bear Lake on February 23, 1922, and was graduated from Panama High School with the Class of 1939. He joined the United Brethren church in his youth and had been an active member.

He enlisted for naval service at Jamestown on January 13, 1941, and had his boot training at Newport, R. I., later attending electrician's school in San Diego, Calif.

His first service was aboard the minesweeper Oglava, which was sunk at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, and was then transferred to the USS Honolulu, which saw continuous service in the Pacific.

Participating in ten major battles, the last of which was at Kula Gulf, the ship was damaged and returned to the States for repairs. Young Perkins was transferred to the sub-chaser school in Florida and then to gyro school in New Orleans, La., from where he was assigned to a destroyer escort for convoy duty in the Atlantic. It was on the first trip out that the Holden was torpedoed.

"CEASE FIRE" TIME STILL TO BE DECIDED

Scattered Combat Reported in Jerusalem and Elsewhere in Palestine

DEBATE IN PROSPECT

BULLETIN

Amman, Trans-Jordan, June 2—(P)—The Arab Legion said today Arab artillery had scattered an Israeli attacking force in Ramat and Giva Shant and killed 100 Jews.

By The Associated Press

Arab nations accepted with "explanations" today the United Nations' proposal for a four-week armistice in Palestine. The reply made plain the Arab belief there is no chance of lasting peace while the Jewish state of Israel exists.

Israel previously had accepted with "assumptions." One of these was that unlimited immigration, including men of fighting age, should continue during the armistice. The Arabs specified that continued Jewish immigration would constitute a grave threat to the Arab countries.

Scattered combat was reported in Jerusalem and elsewhere in Palestine pending a cease fire time, which the U. N. had not yet set.

The Arab reply did not make clear whether the Arab acceptance of the armistice is conditional on the United Nations' agreeing to their "explanations." The Arabs left the time of the cease fire to be decided. The Jews had set 6 p. m. EST yesterday, conditional upon a similar Arab order.

The "explanation" specified that any solution partitioning Palestine into Jewish and Arab states has no chance of success. That is the very point over which both sides have been skirmishing since late in November and early in the open since May 15, when the British mandate ended. The Arab also stressed Jewish immigration as a peril and asked to be allowed to cooperate with the U. N. to supervise compliance with the cease fire.

Prolonged debate, during which fighting will continue, appeared to be in prospect.

The Jews said Egyptian troops attacked Negba, south of Tel Aviv, and bombed Huda, in the same general area. Marking the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion killed 20 Jews attacking the Zion, Jaffa, and New Gates of old Jerusalem after midnight in an effort to win back a foothold.

Artillery, mortar and automatic weapons exploded through Jerusalem while both sides awaited a cease fire order to become effective.

The Jews said they ordered their forces to cease fire at 3 p. m. Palestine time (6 p. m. part of Eastern Standard Time, but would resume fire if the Arabs kept shooting. The hour was that which the U. N. had set as the deadline for replies to its proposal for a four-week truce.

An Israel spokesman said the Jewish acceptance of the truce was unconditional. The Jews, however, couched their reply with five "assumptions," one being that free immigration to Palestine should continue, regardless of whether the immigrants were men of fighting age.

Egyptian Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha said he did not think this acceptable.

The Jews said "assumed" food convoys and civilian traffic would go through the Arab road blocks to the 90,000 besieged Jews in new Jerusalem. They insisted that the armed embargo accompanying the armistice apply to British arms stored in the Middle East.

They "assumed" there would be no blockade of Israel and that the Arabs and Jews should maintain positions held at the time of the cease fire.

Egyptian troops were but fourteen miles south of Tel Aviv. They were reported shelling Rehovot, 12 miles from the Israeli center.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, a part of the Israeli army, asserted Jews penetrated Latrun and blew up of Silet Trappist monastery of eight monks.

Pope Calls For "Just And Necessary Social Reforms"

Rome, June 2—(P)—Pope Pius XII called today for "just and necessary social reforms" to solve problems "growing out of the ruin and revolution of the world and its aftermath."

Not otherwise, he said, could "wayward and embittered hearts" be won back to the "true concepts" and sound ideas about the world and God.

He invoked "earnestness, loyalty, energy and fairness" of "all men of right principles" for the task, citing especially the "urgent need" to provide the poorer classes with housing, bread and work.

To Catholics he gave the watchword, "watchfulness"—lest the enemy, whose identity he did not specify, "retake the ground so laboriously conquered."

In this smaller parish, Father Macken set out to eliminate the church debt and make needed improvements in both churches, such as a construction of a hall with a fully equipped kitchen at St. Anthony's.

Father Macken, who has a particular interest in the youth of his congregation and takes pride in his classes of Bible and church history which are well attended, is endowed with some other talents which have won for him recognition far beyond his parish. He is widely known as a mythologist, an excellent golfer and an expert automobile engineer.

Plans for the dinner honoring Father Macken were made by the officers of the two churches and the Catholic Daughters of America officers.

Warren High School's 71st Commencement

Warren High School will award 272 diplomas to regular and veteran students in the 71st annual commencement exercises to be held in the First Presbyterian church at eight o'clock Thursday evening. The veterans, numbering 11, are those who have met the minimum standards for a diploma as required by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and have passed the Educational Development Tests given by the United States Armed Forces Institute.

For the first time in a good many years, the program will include a commencement address, the guest speaker to be Dr. William F. Zimmerman, president of Thiel College at Greenville. Because of the large number in the graduating class, school officials again remind that admission to commencement is by ticket only. CHEMISTRY OF HEALTH

JOHN JACOB ABEL was a chemist with an idea. He thought that knowledge of the chemistry of the body fluids, tissues and organs would help define their functions... point the way to better health. That's how the important science of Endocrinology was born. Through study of the ductless glands, Abel was the first to extract a pure secretion. He succeeded in obtaining adrenalin from the adrenal glands on May 6, 1897... a drug very important today in the treatment of certain heart and shock cases.

Our modern drug, biological and prescription departments carry many preparations for treatment of glandular disturbances. See us for the preparations your doctor prescribes or recommends.

Warren Boy Choir

Next Wednesday evening, June 9, at 8:15 o'clock, the public of Warren will have its first opportunity of hearing the Warren Boy Choir, when it appears in concert in the Warren High School auditorium. This choir is an outgrowth of the community Christmas concert given last December 14th by the augmented First Methodist choir and a small boy choir of ten voices. Because these boys were received so enthusiastically and because of their love of singing, the boys decided, entirely on their own, that they would like to continue. The charter members held a meeting, forming rules and regulations for receiving new members into the group, and the choir now numbers 26 select voices, with a waiting list of over 40. Byron Swanson is director of the choristers and officers are: Robert Cowden, president; Ernest Kaebnick, vice president; John Donaldson, secretary; Donald Smith, treasurer.

During the past few months, the boys have made several closed appearances, being received always with much enthusiasm. Among the groups they have sung for are a community youth party, Y's Men's Club, Order of the Irvingdale, Mead Township, East Street PTA's, Allen Class Musicals at the First Methodist church, mother-daughter banquet at Grace Methodist church, Trinity Service League at Episcopal church, and the 35th anniversary party at the YWCA.

Tickets for next week's concert are on sale at Geracimos' and the United Cigar Store, or may be obtained from boys in the choir.

Baptist Girl Scout Troop Entertains Mothers At Dinner-Court of Awards

The social room of the First Baptist church was the scene of a happy gathering when members of Girl Scout Troop 11, with their mothers as invited guests, held a dinner and Court of Awards.

As each mother arrived, she was presented with a corsage by her daughter. Tables were beautifully decorated with lighted candles, flowers and streamers. Clever favors, in the form of turtles, marked the places.

After a delicious dinner, with ice cream furnished by the troop sponsors, the Quaintance Class, a short program was enjoyed.

Bonita Sherwood, Girl Scout, gave an interesting talk on the history of Girl Scouting and explained what membership meant to her personally. After this, she introduced Miss Cecilia White, general secretary of the local council, who gave an inspiring address on the Girl Scout Promise and Laws. Several announcements of interest to the Scouts and their mothers were made by various members of the troop.

Mrs. Gerald Conboy, chairman of the troop committee, reported a profit of $7.85 realized on the salted nuts sale and it was decided to divide the amount among those who are going to Camp Birdtail Day. Camp stamps, ranging from $1.50 to $1 were presented to the following girls: Beverly Conboy, Leona Menteer, Peggy Niederlander, Rosemary Prigent, Carol Still and Edith Olmstead. Edith Olmstead, having fulfilled the tenderfoot requirements according to the new Girl Scout Handbook, gave her promise and was invested as a Tenderfoot Scout. She received her pin and was welcomed into the troop. Mary Belle Carr, Marianne Hoover and Peggy Niederlander were advanced to second class rank.

Proficiency badges were awarded the following by the leaders, Mrs. Ruby Carlson and Mrs. Lila Carr: Child care badge (Molly Spinnery, consultant); Anne Akers, Nancy Berding, Mary Bell Rapp, Sue Sheldon, Carol Still, Bonita Sherwood and Rosemary Prigent; design and cook badges, Mary Belle Carr; foot traveler, camp craft, outdoor cook and My Troop badges, Bonita Sherwood and Rosemary Prigent; boating badge, Rosemary Prigent. Warren Boy Choir

Next Wednesday evening, June 9, at 8:15 o'clock, the public of Warren will have its first opportunity of hearing the Warren Boy Choir, when it appears in concert in the Warren High School auditorium. This choir is an outgrowth of the community Christmas concert given last December 14th by the augmented First Methodist choir and a small boy choir of ten voices. Because these boys were received so enthusiastically and because of their love of singing, the boys decided, entirely on their own, that they would like to continue. The charter members held a meeting, forming rules and regulations for receiving new members into the group, and the choir now numbers 26 select voices, with a waiting list of over 40. Byron Swanson is director of the choristers and officers are: Robert Cowden, president; Ernest Kaebnick, vice president; John Donaldson, secretary; Donald Smith, treasurer.

During the past few months, the boys have made several closed appearances, being received always with much enthusiasm. Among the groups they have sung for are a community youth party, Y's Men's Club, Order of Amaranth, Irwindale, Mead Township, East Street PTA's, Allen Class Musicals at the First Methodist church, mother-daughter banquet at Grace Methodist church, Trinity Service League at Episcopal church, and the 35th anniversary party at the YWCA.

Tickets for next week's concert are on sale at Gerachios' and the United Cigar Store, or may be obtained from boys in the choir.

Baptist Girl Scout Troop Entertains Mothers At Dinner-Court of Awards

The social room of the First Baptist church was the scene of a happy gathering when members of Girl Scout Troop 11, with their mothers as invited guests, held a tureen dinner and Court of Awards.

As each mother arrived, she was presented with a corsage by her daughter. Tables were beautifully decorated with lighted candles, flowers and streamers. Clever favors, in the form of turtles, marked the places.

After a delicious dinner, with ice cream furnished by the troop sponsors, the Quaintance Class, a short program was enjoyed.

Bonita Sherwood, Girl Scout, gave an interesting talk on the history of Girl Scouting and explained what membership meant to her personally. After this, she introduced Miss Cecelia White, general secretary of the local council, who gave an inspiring address on the Girl Scout Promise and Laws. Several announcements of interest to the Scouts and their mothers were made by various members of the troop.

Mrs. Gerald Corboy, chairman of the troop committee, reported a profit of $7.85 realized on the salted nuts sale and it was decided to divide the amount among those who are going to Camp Birdsell Eddy. Camp stamps, ranging from $1.50 to $1 were presented to the following girls: Beverly Corboy, Leona Mentzer, Peggy Niederlander, Rosemary Prigent, Carol Still and Edith Olmstead.

Edith Olmstead, having fulfilled the tenderfoot requirements according to the new Girl Scout Handbook, gave her promise and was invested as a Tenderfoot Scout. She received her pin and was welcomed into the troop. Mary Belle Carr, Marianne Hoover and Peggy Niederlander were advanced to second class rank.

Proficiency badges were awarded the following by the leaders, Mrs. Ruby Carlson and Mrs. Lila Carr: Child care badge (Molly Spinney, consultant), Anne Akers, Nancy Berdine, Mary Bell Rapp, Sue Sheldon, Carol Still, Bonita Sherwood and Rosemary Prigent; design and cook badges, Mary Belle Carr; foot traveler, camp craft, outdoor cook and My Troop badges, Bonita Sherwood and Rosemary Prigent; boating badge, Rosemary Prigent. CHEMISTRY OF HEALTH

JOHN JACOB ABEL was a chemist with an idea. He thought that knowledge of the chemistry of the body fluids, tissues and organs would help define their functions... point the way to better health. That's how the important science of Endocrinology was born. Through study of the ductless glands, Abel was the first to extract a pure secretion. He succeeded in obtaining adrenalin from the adrenal glands on May 6, 1897... a drug very important today in the treatment of certain heart and shock cases.

Warren and Post Office officials, if they desire, will be given an opportunity to testify what the loss of airmail pickup service will mean to the city, according to action taken by the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.

The board is currently holding hearings on whether the All American Aviation, Inc., shall be permitted to drop the airmail service and in its place substitute passenger service only to the larger cities.

Following is an Associated Press dispatch on developments:

Washington, June 1—Civil Aeronautics Board hearings on a proposal to discontinue airmail pickup service by All-American Aviation, Inc., in a five state area around Pittsburgh were adjourned Friday until June 14.

At that time representatives of cities which would lose the pickup service will be permitted to testify.

Robert S. Burgess, deputy second assistant postmaster general, has testified that the post office recommends abandoning the pickup service because it is too costly.

He said airmail volume carried has decreased and mail service comparable to that furnished in other sections of the country could be maintained without it.

Burgess explained the change in the Post Office position since 1946 when it asked extension of the pickup routes. He said payments made to All-American for carrying the mail have increased and the board since has approved additional air service by other lines in the area.

Burgess said the post office recommends discontinuing the pickup service whether or not All-American obtains new passenger-mail routes.

Anton Volger, district forester from the Cornplanter district, accompanied by Dan Mourer, State Fire Warden Inspector and Kenneth Check from the Warren office were on the hill Wednesday on business. According to Mr. Volger the observation stations will be officially closed for the spring season on May 31st. The wet weather has kept the damage from forest fires down to a minimum this season.

Lawrence Litchberger, Star mail carrier from Warren to Titusville, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wentworth Saturday evening on his return trip home from Titusville to Warren where he spends the weekends with his family.

Mrs. Allan Rousher of Corry, who has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Chas. Camp and Mrs. Ward Van Guilder returned home Wednesday evening accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Camp.

National Forge Nine Seeks 3rd Win of Season Against Strong Negro Club Tonight

The National Forge baseball nine, winners over Kennedy, N. Y., and Dormont (Pittsburgh) in tilts over the holiday weekend, swing back into action this evening against the Homestead Grays, one of the best known negro professional baseball teams in the district. The game is slated for Wilder Field at 8:30 o'clock.

The Homestead Grays were champions of the Negro National League for nine consecutive years from 1937 to 1946 and this year have molded together another strong club.

With such stars as Luis Marquez, leading hitter and base stealer in the Negro National and American leagues last year. Luscious

Major League Attendance Ahead of Record of 1947; Red Sox Hand A's Defeat

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thanks to the crowds which jammed the parks over the holiday weekend, the major leagues today are ahead of the record breaking pace of last year when they attracted an unprecedented total of 19,974,589 spectators.

Including yesterday's games, the sixteen big league clubs have played to 4,976,889 paid admissions. At a corresponding date a year ago, the same clubs had drawn 4,853,054 persons.

At this rate, the majors will play to the first twenty million attendance in its history this season.

A crowd of 44,779 saw the Yankees inaugurate the night season yesterday at the stadium. The inauguration proved anything but a success as the Washington Senators, behind the five-hit pitching of Walter Masterson, defeated the Yankees 4-1.

Only 4,908 fans in Philadelphia saw the Boston-Red Sox bump the Athletics out of first place in the American League 8-1. The defeat left the A's still a half game in front of the Indians, but the Tribe's won and lost record of 28-11 for 676 was nine percentage points better than the A's 26-13 for 667. The percentage is the deciding factor at the end of the season.

Two Banned From Baseball For Life

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 2—(AP)—Police investigation continued today where organized baseball left off yesterday in the banishment of two men from the game for life.

A lifetime ban was placed against Bernard DeForge, pitcher-manager of the Reidsville, N. C., team on the Carolina League, and Ed Weingarten, an official of the Florence, S. C., club of the Tri-State League and Leaksville, N. C., of the Blue Ridge League.

They were banned on charges of bribery, gambling and game-fixing.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, ruled the two men out of organized baseball yesterday at his Columbus, O., offices.

Trautman said DeForge admitted throwing a game for $300.

Weingarten denied any connection with the incident.

Police Chief John Gold and Detective Captain W. E. Burke of Winston-Salem said no criminal charges had been filed but that "an investigation is being conducted and we are cooperating with baseball people in this thing."

A North Carolina statute makes "fixing" of athletic events a criminal offense.

National Forge Nine Seeks 3rd Win of Season Against Strong Negro Club Tonight

The National Forge baseball nine, winners over Kennedy, N. Y., and Dormont (Pittsburgh) in tilts over the holiday weekend, swing back into action this evening against the Homestead Grays, one of the best known negro professional baseball teams in the district.

The game is slated for Wildcat Field at 6:30 o'clock.

The Homestead Grays were champions of the Negro National League for nine consecutive years from 1937 to 1946 and this year have molded together another strong club.

The Grays with an array of some of the best hitters in baseball, also boast some of the best pitchers in the negro majors. With five 400 hitters—Marquez, Haster, Leonard, Thurman and Boston, the team is rated as one of the top hitting teams in the country.

With such stars as Luis Marquez, leading hitter and base stealer in the Negro National and American leagues last year. Luscious

Easter, who led the South American Winter League in home runs last winter. "Buck" Leonard, veteran Grays' first sacker and picked as one of the all time first basemen of negro baseball. Sam Bankhead, older brother of Dan Bankhead, formerly with Brooklyn, and now with Montreal, at shortstop, it can easily be seen why the Homestead team is rated as the top negro ball club.

Put with these seasoned players such young stars as Clarence Bruce, sophomore second baseman for the Grays, Bob Boston, new rookie, and last year's Ohio sensation—playing in the East Liverpool City League with the Bolden Stars of that city at third base.

To top this all-star aggregation the Grays have added to their roster Charles "Lefty" Bell, recently purchased from the Lakeland Tigers, a Florida team. Bell won 27 games and lost one last year and is also a good hitter. Bell was the most sought after negro ball player in the country for the last two years.

Major League Attendance Ahead of Record of 1947; Red Sox Hand A's Defeat

By JOE REICHLER

Thanks to the crowds which jammed the parks over the holiday weekend, the major leagues today are ahead of the record breaking pace of last year when they attracted an unprecedented total of 19,874,539 spectators.

Including yesterday's games, the sixteen big league clubs have played to 4,976,889 paid admissions. At a corresponding date a year ago, the same clubs had drawn 4,833,034 persons.

The defeat left the A's still a half game in front of the Indians, but the Tribe's won and lost record of 23-11 for 676 was nine percentage points better than the A's 26-13 for .667. The percentage is the deciding factor at the end of the season.

Eddie Joost, Athletics' bespectacled shortstop, finally committed his first error of the season after playing through 41 consecutive errorless games—33 this season and three in 1947. The miscue ended a streak of 225 errorless chances. Both are new American League records.

The error occurred in the third inning when Joost threw Stan Spence's bouncer into the dirt while trying to catch a runner at the plate. Two men scored on the wild throw.

Whitney Lockman and Gil Hodges drove in four runs apiece as the Giants and Dodgers played an 11-inning 4-4 tie at Ebbets Field before 9,353 fans. The game was halted after 11 innings in order to allow both teams to catch trains for the west where they open their second invasion of the season today.

The deadlock left the Giants still in first place, a half game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals. Brooklyn is in seventh place. No other games were scheduled in the major leagues.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

The first division race tightened up in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday as two top teams, Vandergrift and Johnstown, both lost games.

The Erie Sailors ended a five-game losing streak by clubbing the Vandergrift Pioneers, 14-7. The Pioneers slugged four pitchers for 19 hits, including a homer by Ed Morganthaler, a triple by Ziggy Jasinski, and three doubles by Bill Henry.

The Uniontown Coal Barons clipped Johnstown 9-4. Baron Rightfielder Bill Hudasek and Manager Billy Mongiello each got four hits. First Baseman Bob Mitchell hit a three-run homer for the Johnnies.

Butler won over Oil City 11-7, belting three hurlers for 12 hits, including a two-run homer by Martin Polte. Oil City First Baseman Dan Fehlan also homered with one aboard.

Johnstown downed New Castle 10-5 to sweep a three-game series.

Elmer Wallace scattered nine hits to win his third game in five starts.

PONY LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

The top half of the Pony League had notice today that the Hamilton Cardinals have what it takes in a pinch. They came out on top of the Wellsville Red Sox 17-13 in 12 innings.

Trailing 12-7 in the ninth, Bob Mosakoski slapped out a homer with the bases loaded. An error, a walk and a single deadlocked the game 12-12, and the Cards went on to win.

The Lockport Reds continued at the head of the lood by scoring in the ninth to edge out the Batavia Clippers 2-1.

The Olean Oilers swapped Hornell 13-2, and Jamestown bowed to the Bradford Blue Wings 15-3.

Today's games: Wellsville at Hornell, Olean at Lockport, Bradford at Hamilton and Jamestown at Batavia.

Two Banned From Baseball For Life

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 2.—(P)—Police investigation continued today where organized baseball left off yesterday in the banishment of two men from the game for life.

A lifetime ban was placed against Bernard DeForge, pitcher-manager of the Redville, N. C., team on the Carolina League, and Ed Weingarten, an official of the Florence, S. C., club of the Tri-State League and Leaksville, N. C., of the Blue Ridge Loop.

They were banned on charges of bribery, gambling and game-throwing.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, ruled the two men out of organized baseball yesterday at his Columbus, O., office.

Trautman said DeForge admitted throwing a game for $300.

Weingarten denied any connection with the incident.

Police Chief John Gold and Detective Captain W. R. Burke of Winston-Salem said no criminal charges had been filed but that "an investigation is being conducted and we are cooperating with baseball people in this thing."

A North Carolina statute makes "fixing" of athletic events a criminal offense.

Revision of Game Laws Is Discussed By Sportsmen

The Warren County Council of Sportsmen's Club has approved some and rejected others of the suggestions offered sportsmen by the Pennsylvania Game Commission. The action was taken last night at a meeting of the council in the Kalkbush Rod and Gun Club near Clearford.

The local council okayed at least one suggestion for a change in game law. It was to allow game violators to pay a fine of $100 or to serve a term of 30 days in the county jail.

Numerous other game law revisions were considered, especially in regard to use of traps. The council turned thumbs down on a proposed use of game funds for erection of a Game Commission Administration building in Harrisburg. The Commission now occupies a large section of the Education building at the state capital.

The local council voted to ask the Game Commission to set a 30-day game season to run currently with the small game season, and also to open the pheasant season to include hens as well as male birds. The council, however, asked that the season remain closed on wild turkeys here until a long-range stocking program, now under way in the district, is completed.

The council members, somewhat miffed at the sudden transfer of Game Protector Duane Lett to Holly, Wayne county, after only a year's service here, voted to petition the Game Commission to send a full-time game protector into Warren county immediately to take Lett's place. He was transferred the middle of last month, and his duties here are being handled by a deputy game protector.

The council expressed its appreciation to Congressman Leon H. Gawn of Oil City for his efforts in getting a $10,000 appropriation included in a conservation measure to re-activate the Farnsworth trout rearing project near Clearford. The bill has been approved by a House Committee, and is expected to pass before the full house goes into session.

An invitation to join the council was extended to the Spring Creek Rod and Gun Club which is now being formed in the Spring Creek area.

Vienna Choir Boys May Be Brought Here

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Music Committee is now negotiating to bring the Vienna Choir Boys to Warren as one of the attractions of next winter's concert series. This was revealed last evening when the Jaycees met with the community committee and explained the plans for next year's music program.

The Vienna Choir Boys were last heard in this country in 1933 and are returning to the United States this fall after a European tour. The choir which was founded 430 years ago consists of twenty boys, aged eight to twelve years. In addition to the usual choir repertoire of sacred songs and folk music, the youngsters perform costumes of all nations.

The Vienna Choir Boys is just one of the programs planned for next winter. At least two and perhaps three other fine artists will be brought here, depending on the success of the membership campaign. These attractions cannot be decided upon until the campaign is over and the Jaycees know how much capital is available.

Admission to the concert series will be by membership only. There will be no single admissions sold. The memberships have been divided into three classifications—patron, student, and adult. The 100 student memberships are open only to young people enrolled in the county's public or parochial schools. The 100 patron memberships are being enrolled at a slightly higher price to assure the financial success of the series. Membership cards were distributed last evening to the contributors and will also be placed in several downtown headquarters. The Metzger, Wright, Company, The Style Shop, Geracomo's Home Spun Lin., Bickel's Music House and WNAE will have memberships for sale to persons not contacted by a committee member.

The concert music series campaign opens June 6th and closes June 12th.

Lad Escapes Injury When Struck By Car

Six-year-old Philip Ingerson of R. D. 1, Akeley, suffered minor bruises and a bruise on his forehead at 4:15 o'clock when he was struck by an automobile after he had alighted from a school bus in Route 62 in front of his home.

Wayon, the driver of the car, was Iver Swanson, of Jamestown, who was proceeding northward toward his home.

According to reports, the youngster got off the bus, went around to the front of the machine and started across the highway just as Swanson started to pass the bus.

The school bus was taken to Warren General Hospital for emergency treatment and later sent home.

Police said a charge of illegal passing another vehicle on the crest of a hill was preferred against Swanson before Justice of the Peace John Van Orsdale of Russell.

Open Top Rail Cars Scarce Reports Say

With coal loadings for the past four weeks being the heaviest compared to any similar sustained period in the past 20 years and heavy loadings of more advanced road building and construction materials, the supply of open top rail cars is precarious at the present, it was announced last night by J. W. Swager, a member of the executive committee of the Allegheny Regional Advisory board and chairman of the area board.

Mr. Swager received the information Tuesday afternoon from J. F. Dusenberry, district manager of the Association of American railroads.

He said that the only hope of seasonably meeting the need for open top cars lies in faster turn around time by both railroads and shippers.

Mr. Swager has contacted the local railroads and shippers and receivers of open top cars, stating the problem now existing with the cars and has solicited their assistance in the situation which has been classified as extremely serious.

Captain C. E. Smiley, skipper of the Kearsarge, said "we are completely puzzled as to the cause of the swamping."

Sixty-five men were rescued by other launches and pocket boats which sped to the scene of the accident. Three other men swam the two miles to shore, making a total of 68 accounted for.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

By Cameron Dockery

Chapter 29

It was ten of ten by the radium hands of Vince Bonny's service watch.

The shrubbery surrounding Kalamiti made pitted shadows, forming inky barriers against the walls and the outline of the uncompleted pool. Against them the restless silhouettes of pines and madonnas swayed in the chill wind.

With each step that took him further from the house, the knocking sensation on the back of his neck increased until he felt that each nerve stood out from his body individually like a snail's antenna.

Acting as bait for a murderer was an unpleasant feeling he admitted.

Johnston was supposed to be waiting in the bushes near the little summer house and Vince called softly. The raucous croak of a tree toad was his only response. His muscles tightened with apprehension. Where was the detective? Had something gone wrong with the plan?

It had been Vince's idea. The investigator had wanted to make an arrest immediately but Vince had vetoed the idea.

"You'll get nothing that way. This little trick may force him out."

"All right, it's your hide," Johnston had finally agreed.

Vince went over the scene again in his own mind. . . . He had asked Luki to his room and handed him five envelopes, saying "Luki, I know you would like to find out who killed Miss Sophie and Mr. Mannley as much as the police do, isn't that so?"

The unsmiling Hawaiian had nodded soberly. "Yes sir, that is true."

"Very well, I want you to give these five envelopes to Miss Julia, Madam Deveraux, Mr. Bissett, Mr. Dukane and Mr. or Mrs. Donovan sometime during the early part of the evening. Don't let anyone see you. Understand?"

Luki's amazingly luxurious lashes flickered briefly. "Yes sir," he said. "You see, explained."

"We don't know who the murderer is but this little plan may expose him. Mr. Johnston and the police do not know of it."

"Yes sir. You mean this is a trap to catch the criminal?"

"Exactly." He shot Luki a conspiratorial smile. "Mr. Johnston believes those letters he collected today may tell us something. He's going to send them in to a hand writing expert to be read but meanwhile I'm keeping them safe right here." He patted the pocket of his tweed suit.

In retrospect the plan seemed stupid, even dangerous, but perhaps . . .

The night was silent now. The summer house entrance faced directly on that weird narrow extension of land that Julia called the Devil's Walk. One misstep on the winding path meant a fifty foot fall into water below but almost certain death on the knife-like rocks that rose from the Canal here.

Suddenly Vince stood up. . . . Someone was coming along the path!

After his white servant's jacket Luki had donned an old khaki wool coat. That, combined with his rich mahogany skin, made him almost indistinguishable.

"Luki," Vince exclaimed, "What are you doing here?"

"My sister said I might need assistance," he said. "I passed Vince and went inside the summer house. I will wait here with you, sir."

"Thanks," Vince took up his stand in the entrance and waited. He cupped his hand to light a cigarette. It annoyed him to see that his palms glistened with sweat. He had turned his class ring inward so that the polished carnelian served him as a tiny mirror. Now, something he saw made him start. A quick flash of metallic light made him throw himself to the ground with all the speed and strength he could summon!

As though timed by a stop watch a gun spoke out of the darkness, an object whizzed past his ear and lay gleaming in the pabbies before the little summer house. He heard a sharp pained intake of breath just behind him. Johnston came toward him from a clump of bushes. A re-expose him. Mr. Johnston and the police do not know of it."

volver was in his hand. "All right, Luki," he said, "the game is up."

Vince got to his feet. Behind him Charles Lukilano was holding his hand over an ugly scowl, defiant and sullen. Using his handkerchief Johnston picked up the knife still lying in the path.

You seem to have been rather good at this sort of thing, Luki. A wry smile twisted the islander's full lips.

"So it was you who killed Mr. Mannley, eh Luki?" Johnston demanded.

The rises of Luki's eyes seemed to dilate with bitterness.

"Yes, I killed him. He seemed against the Lukilanos. Our family was one of the noblest, the purest racial strains in the Hawaiian Islands. We are direct descendants of the first king. Mr. Mannley despoiled our family line."

Revision of Game Laws Is Discussed By Sportsmen

The Warren County Council of Sportsmen's Club has approved some and rejected others of the suggestions offered by sportsmen of the Pennsylvania Game Commission. The action was taken last night at a meeting of the council in the Kalbfus Rod and Gun Club near Clarendon.

The local council okayed stiffening penalties including seizure of autos and firearms for flagrant game law violations so far as big game was concerned, but thought such penalties were too severe for small game law infractions.

Numerous other game law revisions were considered, especially in regards to use of license funds, but the county group turned thumbs down on a proposed use of game funds for erection of a Game Commission Administration building in Harrisburg. The Commission now occupies a large section of the Education building at the state capital.

The local council voted to ask the Game Commission to set a 30-day grouse season to run currently with the small game season, and also to open the pheasant season to include hens as well as male birds. The council, however, asked that the season remain closed on wild turkeys here until a long-range stocking program, now under way in the district, is completed.

The council members, somewhat miffed at the sudden transfer of Game Protector Duane Lettice to Holly, Wayne county, after only a year's service here, voted to petition the Game Commission to send a full-time game protector into Warren county immediately to take Lettice's place. He was transferred the middle of last month, and his duties here are being handled by a deputy game protector.

The council expressed its appreciation to Congressman Leon H. Gavin of Oil City for his efforts in getting a $15,000 appropriation included in a conservation measure to re-activate the Kamsworth trout rearing project near Clarendon. The bill has been approved by a House Committee, and is expected to come before the full house group for action soon.

An invitation to join the council was extended to the Spring Creek Rod and Gun Club which is now being formed in the Spring Creek area.

Vienna Choir Boys May Be Brought Here

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Music Committee is now negotiating to bring the Vienna Choir Boys to Warren as one of the attractions of next winter's concert series. This was revealed last evening when the Jaycees with the community committee and explained the plans for next year's music program.

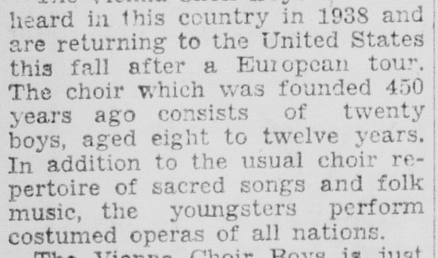

The Vienna Choir Boys were last heard in this country in 1938 and are returning to the United States this fall after a European tour. The choir which was founded 450 years ago consists of twenty boys, aged eight to twelve years. In addition to the usual choir repertoire of sacred songs and folk music, the youngsters perform costumed operas of all nations.

The Vienna Choir Boys is just one of the programs planned for next winter. At least two and perhaps three other fine artists will be brought here, depending on the success of the membership campaign. These attractions cannot be decided upon until the Jaycees campaign is over and the Jaycees know how much capital is available.

Admission to the concert series will be by membership card only. There will be no single admissions sold. The memberships have been divided into three classifications—patron, student, and adult. The 100 student memberships are open only to young people enrolled in the county's public or parochial schools. The 100 patron memberships are being enrolled at a slightly higher price to assure the financial success of the series.

Membership cards were distributed last evening to the committee and will also be placed in several downtown headquarters. The Metzger Wright Company, The Style Shop, Geracimos Home Spun Inn, Bickaricks Music House and WNAE will have memberships for sale to persons not contacted by a committee member.

The concert music series campaign opens June 6th and closes June 12th.

CRUDE OUTPUT DROPS

A decline of 3,100 barrels was reported in the daily average production of Pennsylvania grade crude oil in the week ended May 22 when the daily output averaged 62,650 barrels. According to the American Petroleum Institute, the biggest decline was recorded by southeastern Ohio where daily output dropped 2,500 barrels to 6,200 barrels. Other decreases: Allegany, 550 to 9,600; Bradford, 100 to 31,225; and West Virginia, 1,050 to 7,750 barrels. Kane to Butler had an increase of 400 barrels to 4,175 and southwestern Pennsylvania was up 700 barrels to 3,500 barrels. Virginia's daily output remained the same at 200 barrels.

For years all kinds of food and many beverages have been preserved in cans. Strangely enough the prime necessity of life, water, has only recently been canned with success, despite a long-standing need for such a product.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

By Cameron Dockery

Chapter 29

IT was ten of ten by the radium hands of Vince Bonny's service watch.

The shrubbery surrounding Kalanii made pitted shadows, forming inky barriers against the walls and the outline of the uncompleted pool. Against them the restless silhouettes of pines and madonnas swayed in the chill wind.

With each step that took him further from the house, the pricking sensation on the back of his neck increased until he felt that each nerve stood out from his body individually like a snail's antenna.

Acting as bait for a murderer was an unpleasant feeling he admitted.

Johnson was supposed to be waiting in the bushes near the little summer house and Vince called softly. The raucous croak of a tree toad was his only response. His muscles tightened with apprehension. Where was the detective? Had something gone wrong with the plan?

It had been Vince's idea. The investigator had wanted to make an arrest immediately but Vince had vetoed the idea.

"You'll get nothing that way; this little trick may force him out."

"All right, it's your hide," Johnson had finally agreed.

Vince went over the scheme again in his own mind.

He had asked Luki to his room and handed him five envelopes, saying "Luki, I know you would like to find out who killed Miss Sophie and Mr. Mannley as much as the police do. Isn't that so?"

The unsmiling Hawaiian had nodded soberly. "Yes sar, that is true."

"Very well, I want you to give these five envelopes to Miss Julia, Madam Deaux, Mr. Elbert, Mr. Dukane and Mr. or Miss Donovan sometime during the early part of the evening. Don't let anyone see you. Understand?"

Luki's amazingly luxurious lashes flickered briefly. "Yes sar."

"You see," Vince explained. "We don't know who the murderer is but this little plan may expose him. Mr. Johnson and the police do not know of it."

"Yes sar. You mean this is a trap to catch the criminal?"

"Exactly." He shot Luki a conspiratorial smile. "Mr. Johnson believes those letters he collected today may tell us something. He's going to send them in to a handwriting expert tomorrow but meanwhile I'm keeping them safe right here." He patted the pocket of his tweed suit.

It transpired the plan seemed stupid, even dangerous, but perhaps...

THE night was silent now. The summer house entrance faced directly on that weird narrow extension of land that Julia called the Devil's Walk. One misstep on the winding path meant a fifty foot fall to the water, and almost certain death on the knife-like rocks that rose from the Canal here.

Suddenly Vince stood up. Someone was coming along the path!

Over his white servant's jacket Luki had donned an old khaki wool coat. That, combined with his rich mahogany skin, made him almost indistinguishable from the shadows.

"Luki!" Vince exclaimed. "What are you doing here?"

"I thought you might need assistance sar." He passed Vince and went inside the summer house. "I will wait here with you, sar."

"Thanks." Vince took up his stand in the entrance and waited.

He cupped his hands to light a cigarette; it annoyed him to see that his palms glistened with sweat. He had turned his classing inward so that the polished carmelian served him as a tiny mirror. Now, something he saw in that stone, a quick flash of metallic light made him throw himself to the ground with all the speed and strength he could summon.

As though timed by a stop watch a gun spoke out of the darkness; an object whistled past his ear and lay gleaming in the pebbles before the little summer house. He heard a sharp intake of breath just behind him. Johnson came toward him from a clump of bushes. A revolver was in his hand. "All right, Luki," he said. "The game is up."

Vince got to his feet. Behind him Charles Luki-lano was holding his hand over an ugly shoulder wound. His eyes were dark, defiant and sullen. Using his handkerchief Johnson picked up the knife still lying in the path.

"You seem to have been rather good at this sort of thing, Luki."

A wry smile twisted the Islander's full lips.

"So it was you who killed Mr. Mannley, eh Luki?" Johnson demanded.

The irises of Luki's eyes seemed to dilate with bitterness.

"Yes, I killed him. He sinned against the Luki-lanos. Our family was one of the noblest, the purest racial strains in the Hawaiian Islands. We are direct descendants of the first king. Mr. Mannley despoiled our family line."

"Last Thursday I received a letter from my sister. She told me what I had never known—that Mr. Mannley was the father of her child, Lellani. The girl is seventeen now. She has a wonderful singing voice. My sister said that the music teachers in Honolulu had told her that Lellani should come to the mainland to study. But it is very expensive; my sister has not the money."

Luki's voice died as though what he had just said was sufficient reason for his succeeding actions. But Johnson ordered him on harshly.

"My sister says that D. Palmer and Mrs. Donovan witnessed Lellani's birth. She asked me to plead with Mr. Mannley for the money. She said when she went to him personally in Honolulu he refused to see her but she is determined."

"Thursday night I asked him for the money. He refused and I grew angry," Luki told him. "I thought he was insulting me. That his servant should speak so to me was a disgrace. He was choking me when I saw the pearl diver's knife. So I killed him."

As he ceased talking a troubled silence settled over the little group.

Market Quotations

New York, June 2—(P)—Small gains and losses were just about a standoff in a slow stock market today.

Railroad issues showed signs of improvement at the opening but the carriers soon developed the irregularity that affected other trading.

Trading was near the lowest rate in days, with the ticker tape standing idle for minutes at a time.

In the oil section several issues continued the upward trend which was so pronounced yesterday. Standard Oil (N. J.) and Texas Co. (selling ex-dividend) added fractions but Mission Corp., slipped a trifle.

into the night if necessary to dispose of the measure designed to admit up to 200,000 war refugees into this country during the next two years.

That bill, a limited revival of the draft, and extension of the reciprocal trade act beyond June 1, were the only ones posted on the Capitol grounds and were admittedly tentative and incomplete list of measures which for Republican leaders have labeled for definite action.

NEW IDEA IN HOUSING REJECTED BY OFFICERS

Pittsburgh, June 2—(P)—Cleas, L. Bair and his family had a unique idea for solving the housing shortage, but the county commissioners wouldn't go along with it.

The four Bairs, homeless because the relative with whom they had been living sold the house, suggested yesterday that the county rent them an office from the hours of 5 p. m. to 8 a. m. daily.

The commissioners were sympathetic but said they didn't consider the idea "feasible."

Exercises At Starbrick Are Well Attended

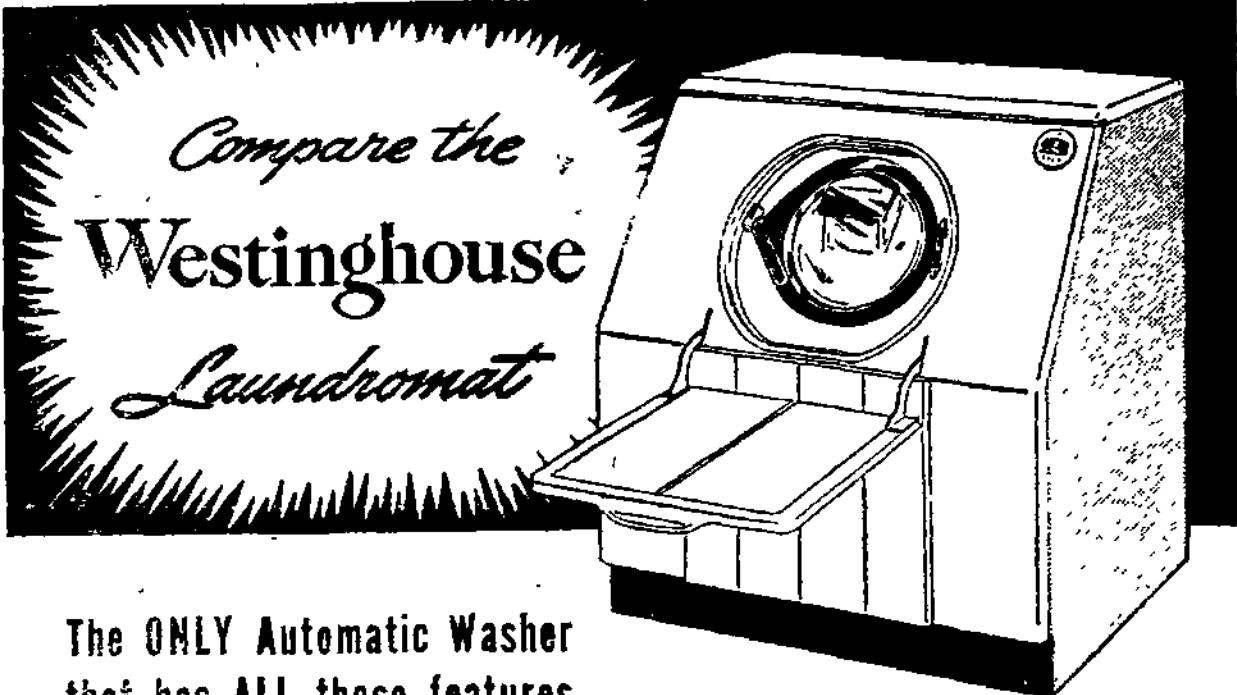

The first Memorial Day exercises ever to be held in Westview cemetery at Starbrick took place Sunday afternoon and was very well attended. The parade formed on the Weiler road by the Ralph Simpson home and was under command of Grand Marshal James V. Scallie.

Music was furnished by the VFW Band of Post 631, with Clarendon VFW, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies marching to the cemetery.

The program opened with the invocation by Rev. William T. Lane, pastor of Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, with a selection by the band; reading of General Logan's Order by Keith C. McIntosh; Gettysburg Address, Richard Hickabone; address, Robert E. Young, of the Warren High School faculty; In Memoriam, American Legion and Auxiliary, VFW and Auxiliary, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies; roll call, Laverne Schuler. The firing squad was commanded by Lt. Charles N. Johnson and John Casses was bugler for "Taps". The program concluded with the National Anthem played by the band.

The parade reformed and returned to the starting point for disbanding.

The committee in charge of arrangements for this special occasion is most appreciative of all who helped in making the parade and program so successful, with special thanks to the Warren and Clarendon VFW and to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Seranton, who donated the beautiful American flag to the cemetery.

PLANE ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams of Kane, escaped injury when their Ecoupe monoplane was forced down in a heavily-wooded section two miles east of Kane Monday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. Cool and level-headed piloting on the part of the man, who guided the plane to a landing after the small craft's engine failed at 1,500 feet, was attributed with saving himself and his wife from injury. The plane's wing tip, which clipped several trees in its descent, and the left wheel of the landing gear, received minor damage. Williams, a licensed pilot, had taken off from the Bradford-McKean Airport at Mt. Alto in the rented plane on his last hop for the day with his wife as a passenger. Not far from Lantz Corners the engine kicked off, reportedly because of carburetor trouble, and the pilot guided the floating ship to a level, though wooded area. Prior to the mishap, Williams had flown his children, father and mother on previous trips covering a two-hour period during the afternoon.

RADIO INSTITUTE

Dr. Harold Jacobs, a member of the research staff in the advanced development laboratories of Sylva Electric, will address a meeting of the Emporium section of the Institute of Radio Engineers on June 3rd. He will discuss recent studies of secondary emission in vacuum tubes. These studies were made in experimental tubes prepared with secondary emission nickel. Properties of the "reflexes" were studied by means of repeated heating and activation to determine a time of maximum rate of emission change with respect to temperature.

Exercises At Starbrick Are Well Attended

The first Memorial Day exercises ever to be held in Westview cemetery at Starbrick took place Sunday afternoon and was very well attended. The parade formed on the Weiler road by the Ralph Simpson home and was under command of Grand Marshal James V. Scalise.

Music was furnished by the VFW Band of Post 631, with Clarendon VFW, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies marching to the cemetery.

The program opened with the invocation by Rev. William F. Lane, pastor of Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, with a selection by the band; reading of General Logan's Orders by Keith C. McIntosh; Gettysburg Address, Richard Hucklebone; address, Robert R. Young, of the Warren High School faculty; In Memoriam, American Legion and Auxiliary, VFW and Auxiliary, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies; roll call. Laverne Schuler, the firing squad was commanded by Lt. Charles N. Johnson and John Casses was bugler for "Taps". The program concluded with the National Anthem played by the band.

The parade reformed and returned to the starting point for disbanding.

The committee in charge of arrangements for this special occasion is most appreciative of all who helped in making the parade and program so successful, with special thanks to the Warren and Clarendon VFW and to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scranton, who donated the beautiful American flag to the cemetery.

PLANE ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams of Kane, escaped injury when their Ercoupe monoplane was forced down in a heavily wooded section two miles east of Kane Monday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. Cool and level-headed piloting on the part of the "fame man, who glided the plane to a landing after the small craft's engine failed at 1,500 feet, was attributed with saving himself and his wife from injury. The plane's wing tip, which clipped several trees in its descent, and the left wheel of the landing gear, received major damage. Williams, a licensed pilot, had taken off from the Bradford-McKean Airport at Mt. Alto in the rented plane on his last hop for the day with his wife as a passenger. Not far from Lantz Corners the engine kicked off, reportedly because of carburetor trouble, and the pilot guided the floating ship to a level, though wooded area. Prior to the mishap, Williams had flown his children, father and mother on previous trips covering a two-hour period during the afternoon.
